AN-ACC Clinical Care Transition Insights

Clinical Insights & Overview of the Australian National Aged Care Classification Model (AN-ACC)

From 1 October 2022, the Australian Government will provide an additional $3.9 billion through the Australian National Aged Care Classification (AN-ACC) funding model. The AN-ACC will replace the Aged Care Funding instrument (ACFI) model.

Join our clinical care consultant, Nigel McGothigan, who has been involved with AN-ACC from the beginning and has supported providers in the transition from ACFI to AN-ACC, offering a comprehensive understanding of the AN-ACC clinical practices and the clinical process that should be adapted.

This program will discuss the implications of the new AN-ACC model on clinical governance frameworks, clinical assessment, and best practice protocols. The program will discuss areas of focus for clinical management, registered nurses, and care staff during the transition period and the considerations that should be made during the change. AN-ACC will also change the focus of care teams from being funding generators in ACFI to focusing on clinical care outcomes and assessment.
