

LEAD 301

Leading with Confidence

'Defining your purpose is essential. We spend over 90,000 hours at work in an average lifetime. Studies show that purpose driven leaders and organisations outperform other organisations.'

Leaders who are credible and demonstrate integrity are proven to be one step in front of their counterparts. Leading with Confidence provides an overview of your various activities as a leader within your organisation and asks you some simple questions. Am I where I want to be, or is there more growth to come? Is my team set up for success? How effective is my communication? Do I spend enough time developing myself and my people?

This program assists each participant to review their current state honestly from a big picture perspective and plan out the changes they need to make to become a high performing leader.
